"Whereas the minimum number of members of the Legislative Assembly of each State is 60 under Article 170(I) of the Constitution of India;

"Whereas under Article 371 G(b) in the case of Mizoram State the number of members in the Legislative Assembly is fixed at 40 as per provision of the Mizoram Accord, 1986;

"And whereas the Parliament have passed the Constitution (Ninety-first Amendment) Bill, 2000 which limits the minimum number of members in the Legislative Assembly static at 60;

"Now, therefore, this House resolves that the Constitution (Ninety-first Amendment) Bill, 2000, when enacted, shall not pose a bar for the Mizoram Legislative Assembly to have the minimum strength not exceeding 60 in place of 40, and the Central Government be moved accordingly to achieve the number of members of State Legislature not exceeding 60 in the case of small States like Mizoram".
