It was governed by the Assam Home Guards Act, 1947 and rules made there under. The Mizoram Home Guards Organisation was re-organised in the year 1973 having state level Headquarters, District Organisation and Training Centre under the Union Territory of Mizoram. The mother Act and Rules i.e Assam Home Guard Act and Rules which was framed in the year 1947 is becoming out dated for running and steering up the organisation in a proper manner. As a result of this we are mostly following compendium of Instruction of Home Guards issued by Ministry of Home Affairs. It is therefore, necessary to have our own Act and Rules based on the Model Act and Rules for Home Guards Issued by the Government of India. There is also an introduction from Government of India that every State must have Act and Rules based on Model Act and Rules Circulated by the Centre taking into consideration local suitability, resources availabilities, environments and local demand etc. hence the Bill. tih a ni a.
